

Treasure Hunt

Your commander learns that an item of immense value has been hidden within the ruins of an old fortress. Unfortunately, the message he received was incomplete, therefore the company is not quite certain what exactly they are seeking. As they approach the ruins of the fortress, they discover that they are not the only ones who have been tipped off about the treasure...

Layout -- A 48" x 48" board with as much terrain as possible, including several ruined buildings. More terrain creates a more interesting, tactical experience, so players are encouraged to use plenty of terrain arranged in a mutually agreeable fashion. Once the terrain is set, players take turns placing 6 tokens (numbered 1-6) on the board at least 6" from the table edge and 10" from any other token.

Starting Positions -- The Player with the lowest Effective Company Rating may choose his board edge. The company with the highest Effective Company Rating then deploys his force first within 3" of the opposite table edge. No model may be deployed within 6" of a treasure token.

Objectives -- The Companies are trying to fend off their enemies while combing the battlefield for the hidden treasure. They will try to control as many tokens at the end of the battle as possible. To claim a token, a Company must have at least one Warrior within a 3" radius of a token and no enemies within the same distance. If both Companies have models within 3" of a token, the token is considered contested and neither side may claim it. Once one Company has been reduced to 50% of its starting numbers, begin rolling a die at the end of each turn. If the result is ever a 1, the game immediately ends. At the end of the game, one of the players should roll a D6 and whichever Company controls the token with that number on it is considered to have recovered the treasure and won the game. If the number rolled is a contested token or is not claimed by either Company, then the result is a Draw.
